JUROR: LAURA DEFAZIO

Laura DeFazio is an artist who primarily sculpts and draws large-scale works, often for public spaces. Her primary media for her sculpture are stone, cast cement, and clay, and her work celebrates the beauty of life with life-like portraits of individual animals and people. Her regional permanent public art include large-scale sculptures at Ohiopyle State Park, the Uniontown Public Library, and a sculpture to be installed in the summer of 2025 at the Carnegie Library of Homestead.

Ms. DeFazio has also been active in the Pittsburgh art community since the 1990's, for which she's organized or curated many exhibitions, exhibited her work, won awards, and for many years served on the Board of Directors of the Society of Sculptors, working to create exhibition and educational opportunities for artists in the region.

Ms. DeFazio has been a Professor of Art at PennWest University, previously California University of PA, since 1997. She currently teaches courses on World art and Islamic art and architecture. She holds a BFA from Indiana University of PA, and an MFA from Kent State University.

Ms. DeFazio expresses her thanks to the Greensburg Art Center for the valuable offerings it provides the community. As a teen, she attended figure-drawing sessions at the Greensburg Art Center, and as child, spend time at the Center while her mother, Nina DeFazio, participated in activities and for a time, served as President. Ms. DeFazio wishes to recognize the great value this institution provides the community.
